

Introduction:

Website is a group of World Wide Web pages usually containing hyperlinks to each other and made available online by an individual, company, educational institution, government, or organization.

The title of my project is “Watch Trailer” where the main goal provided to the user is to watch all the latest Hollywood movies trailer as well as the primary goal is to book a movie ticket online. This website is made by using HTML, CSS and JAVASCRIPT to obtain the final result. User can find the all movies trailer in home page, interesting news in news page, and upcoming movies in coming soon, movies which are playing in cinema hall are listed in in theaters, and in contact page the user can book a movie. At the top of the home page the user can find the login and registration page where user can register their details to login the website. Each and every form pages are well validated of this website but still it doesn’t stores the registered user information.

Current System:

The present system of this site is established by utilizing HTML codes just and the recognition is not in the correct method. The site has an unsightly looks with minimum functions. That site is simply utilize for the news function specifically.

Problem Background:

Trailer can be described as “an ad or an industrial for a feature movie that will be displayed in the future at a movie theater, the outcome of technical and innovative work.” I have chosen this website as my project because I have seen people cannot find movie trailer list, their proper review, and booking system online at same website, they have to visit different website for movie information. On the other hand, the major problem of this website is that the interface of this site is not more appealing for the users. The user’s information and booked tickets are recorded in a note pad. Some are poorly designed with irregular position of content which makes confusion to the viewers, have bunch of different links, doesn’t have form validation for booking and many more. So, I tried to improve some of the problems in this project.

Purposed System:

I have actually purposed this system altering all the codes by utilizing CSS, JavaScript and HTML codes. Generally the JavaScript are utilized for the recognition of the kind aspects, the CSS is not more utilized more for the visual user interface however utilize generally for the text and department components. Some of the code of HTML5 is likewise utilized for the recognition function.

Looking at the above problem background above, I have tried to make my website better for user. Some of the feature are considered below:

- Users can easily open the website and can book ticket from home online, which saves time of the user.
- The user interface design is better with suitable color for user interest.
- Each and every form have been properly validate so that user can input their details correctly.
- The news on the second page of this website provide latest news on celebrity as well as movie discussion.
- Links used in this website are understandable, user friendly.
- Social links are attached at the bottom of the website in most of the pages so that user can follow, rate and review on their social pages.

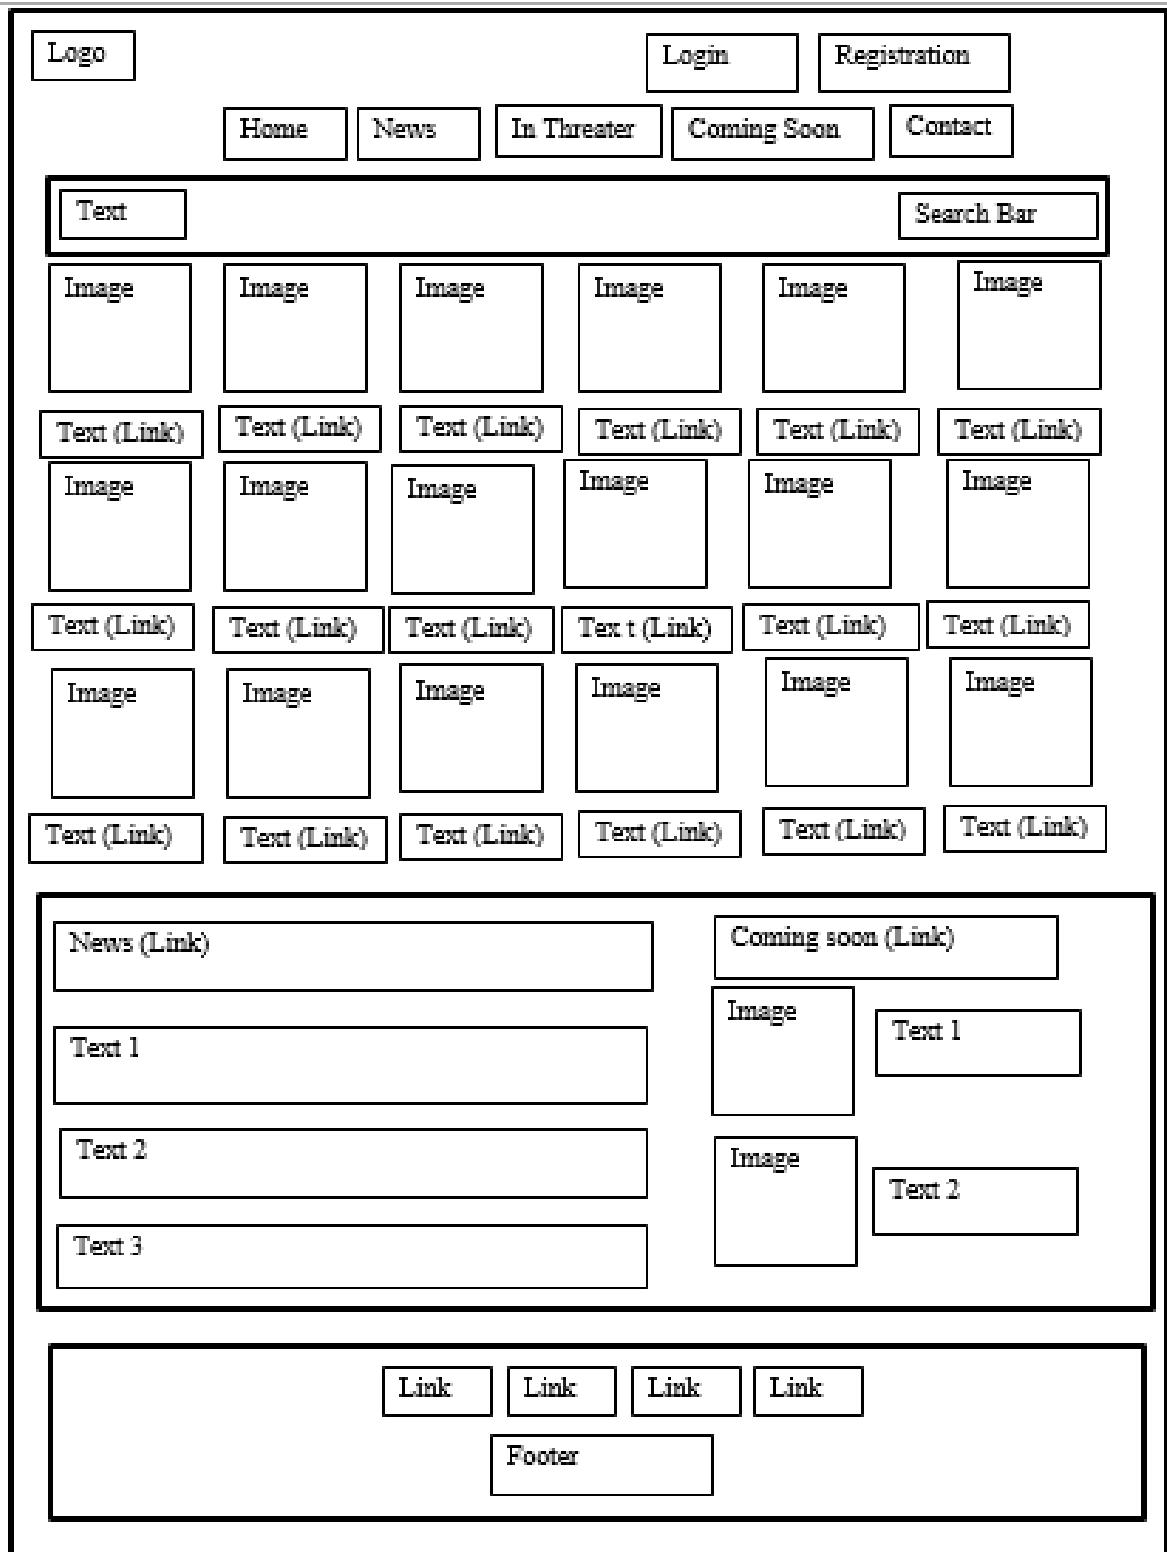

Objective for creating:

The major objective for creating this website are listed below:

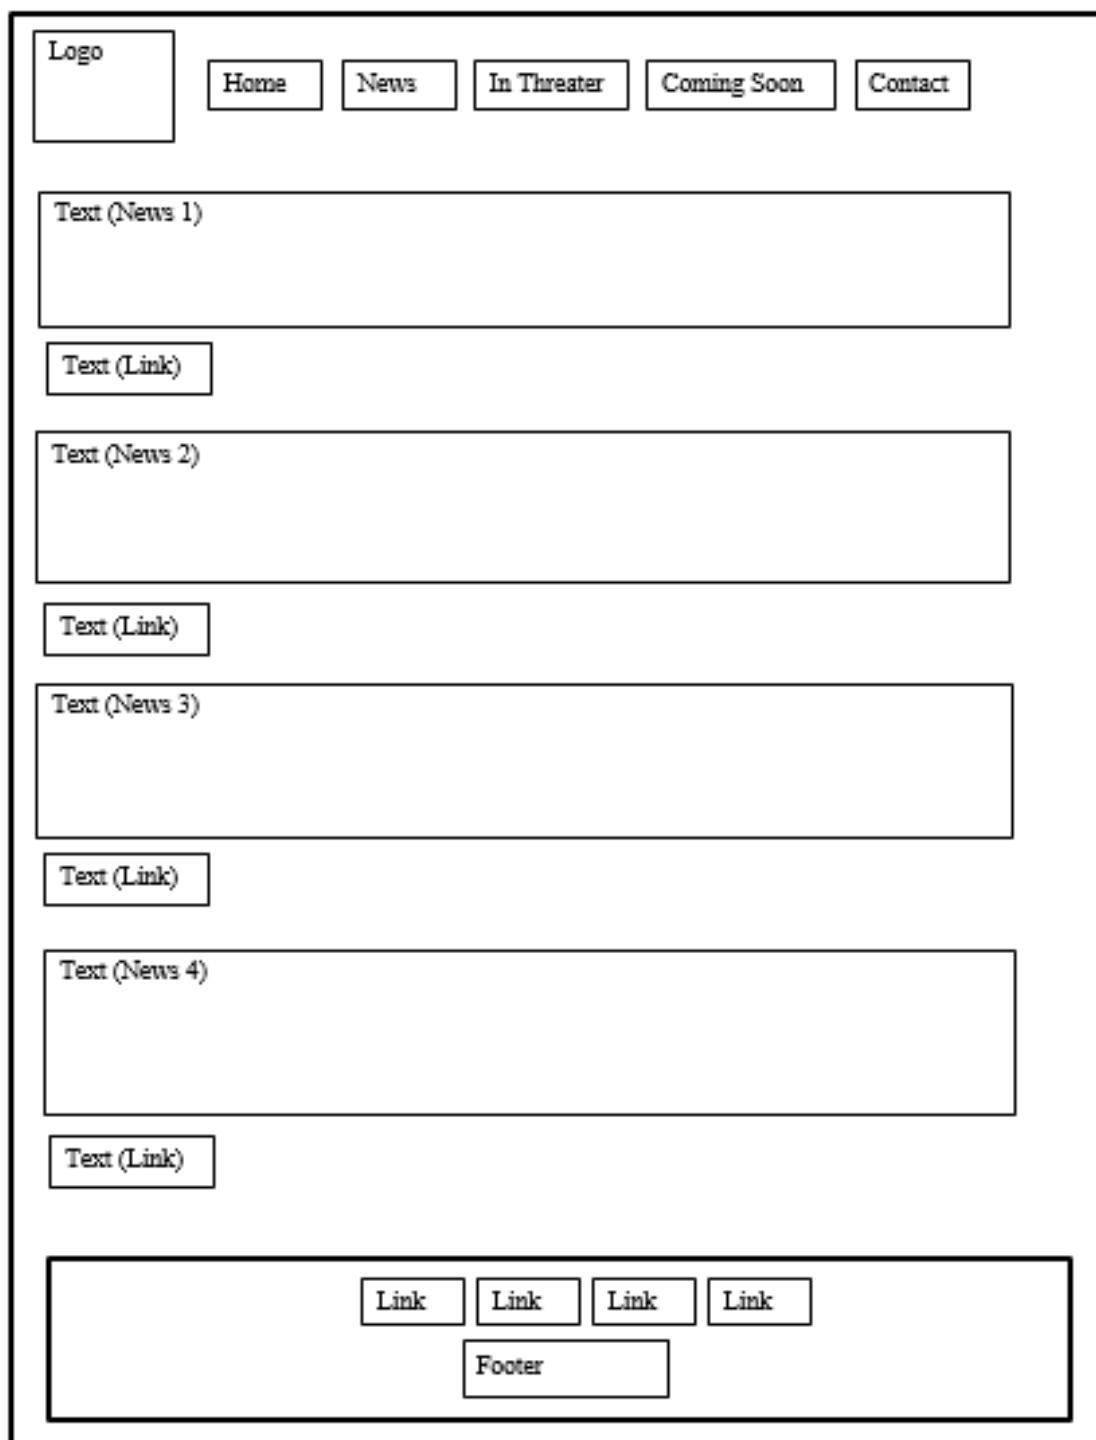

- To promote every movie trailer present in this website.
- For the better user interface design.
- To provide all movie details, rating, comments to the user via this website.
- To make sure for each and every form are validated using JavaScript.
- To make it user friendly i.e., easier to use.
- To book ticket from home using this website.
- To promote watch trailer website and earn money using Google AdSense.

Michael Nyqvist Dies; Veteran Actor Was 56
Michael Nyqvist, a Swedish actor who took on the lead role in the initial big screen adaption of The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo, died on Tuesday in Stockholm. He was 56 years old. Nyqvist portrayed journalist Mikael Blomkvist in the original film and its sequels, which were based on the blockbuster novel by the same name. He had been suffering from lung cancer for over a year at the time of his death. "Michael's joy and passion were infectious to those who knew and loved him," his family said in a statement yesterday, adding: "His charm and charisma were undeniable." Gerard Butler, who starred opposite Nyqvist in the movie Hunter Killer, also paid tribute to the actor upon learning of his death. "I just found out that he passed today," Butler said on Instagram, expounding as follows: "It feels important to send my condolences because of all the movies I've made, he was right up there....

Spider-Man: Homecoming is the latest film to feature trailer scenes you'll never see
In the official trailers for Spider-Man: Homecoming, the web-slinging superhero can be seen soaring through the sky next to Robert Downey Jr.'s Iron Man. It's a shot that masterfully hypes the movie in mere seconds: it teases Downey Jr.'s return, gives fans of the ongoing MCU a chance to reminisce on Spider-Man's first appearance in Captain America: Civil War and promises an epic team-up. But like so many before it in so many different films, that never appears in the film. Lost trailer scenes are pretty common. In 2009, io9 rounded up nearly a dozen instances where epic scenes from movie trailers never appeared in the film. When Rogue One hit theaters last year, it joined the roster of high-profile films to leave trailer footage on the cutting room floor. The reason behind Homecoming's missing scenes stands apart, however, as a ScreenCrush interview with director Jon Watts reveals. The shot of Spider-Man and Iron Man airborne — as well as a shot of the movie's villain, the Vulture, descending from a hotel atrium — were never actually going to be in the final product. Watts says that the Vulture shot was created specifically for a Comic-Con sizzle reel when the project was still early in filming. "That was never meant to be in the movie," he says. "But I did use that angle for Vulture's reveal at the beginning of the movie; Vulture's hovering, swooping towards the camera like that. I used that shot, it's just no longer in an Atlanta hotel atrium."...

IRON MAN 4

 When Marvel announced their massive Phase Three lineup back in October, the studio revealed nine movies that will conclude with the release of Avengers: Infinity War Part 2 in May 2019. The studio hasn't announced any plans beyond that, but a new rumor from Master Herald claims that the studio is developing Iron Man 4 for a 2019 release, which will not star Robert Downey Jr. as Tony Stark. Instead, the sequel will reportedly star the as-of-now 13-year-old Ty Simpkins, who portrayed the precocious youngster Harley Keener in Iron Man 3. He will be between 17 and 18 when the movie goes into production. Naturally, this news hasn't been confirmed by Marvel or Disney at this time. Back in October, Robert Downey Jr. confirmed that Iron Man 4 is actually happening, but he revealed just a few days later that Marvel does not have any plans for the sequel. The actor also teased in October that he wants Mel Gibson to direct Iron Man 4, but it isn't known if negotiations actually took place between Mel Gibson and Marvel. Robert Downey Jr.'s original contract with Marvel ended with Iron Man 3, but the actor signed a new deal with Marvel in June 2013 that brought him back for Avengers: Age of Ultron, Avengers: Infinity War Part 1 and Avengers: Infinity War Part 2. He is also reprising his role as Tony Stark in Captain America: Civil War, which kicks off Phase Three next year. Ty Simpkins will next be seen in this summer's Jurassic World, and his other big screen credits include Insidious, Insidious Chapter 2, Revolutionary Road and The Next Three Days. Even though the actor will turn 18 in the year 2019, will he still be too young to play Iron Man? We'll be sure to keep you posted as soon as more details surface

THOR RAGNAROK

 Thor: Ragnarok is an upcoming American superhero film based on the Marvel Comics character Thor, produced by Marvel Studios and distributed by Walt Disney Studios Motion Pictures. It is intended to be the sequel to 2011's Thor and 2013's Thor: The Dark World and the seventeenth film installment of the Marvel Cinematic Universe (MCU). The film is directed by Taika Waititi with a screenplay by Eric Pearson, and stars Chris Hemsworth, Tom Hiddleston, Cate Blanchett, Idris Elba, Jeff Goldblum, Tessa Thompson, Karl Urban, Mark Ruffalo, and Anthony Hopkins. In Thor: Ragnarok, Thor must defeat the Hulk in a gladiatorial duel in time to save Asgard from Hela and the coming Ragnarok. A third Thor film was confirmed in January 2014, with the title and involvement of Hemsworth and Hiddleston announced that October. Waititi joined the film as director the next October, after Alan Taylor chose not to return from the second film, and Ruffalo joined the cast, crossing over the character Hulk from other MCU films. With the Hulk's inclusion, elements from the 2006 comic storyline "Planet Hulk" were adapted for Ragnarok. The rest of the cast was confirmed the next May, with Pearson revealed to be involved with the film at the start of filming in July 2016. Principal photography took place from July to October, 2016, in Queensland and Sydney, Australia, with the film having exclusive use of Village Roadshow Studios in Oxford. Thor: Ragnarok is scheduled to be released on November 3, 2017, in IMAX.
